

UNITED STATES DISTRICT COURT
SOUTHERN DISTRICT OF NEW YORK

JAMES OWENS, et al.

Plaintiffs,

v.

TALIBAN a/k/a ISLAMIC EMIRATE OF AFGHANISTAN

Defendant.

Civil Action No. 22-cv-01949 (VEC)

SUPPLEMENTAL DECLARATION OF MATTHEW D. MCGILL IN SUPPORT OF ENTRY OF DEFAULT JUDGMENT

I, Matthew D. McGill, hereby declare as follows:

1. I am an attorney duly licensed to practice law in the State of New York and am admitted to the bar of this Court. I am a partner at Gibson, Dunn & Crutcher LLP and counsel for Plaintiffs in the above-captioned matter. I am over the age of 18, I have personal knowledge of the facts stated herein, and if called to testify, I could and would competently testify to these facts.

2. I make this Supplemental Declaration in accordance with Rule 55(b) of the Federal Rules of Civil Procedure, Local Civil Rule 55.2(b), and the Court's Individual Rules of Practice in Civil Cases, in support of entry of default judgment against Defendant Taliban a/k/a Islamic Emirate of Afghanistan.

3. This Supplemental Declaration supplements my Declaration in Support of Entry of Default Judgment filed on July 14, 2022, Dkt. 74 ("July 14, 2022 Declaration").

4. The purpose of this Supplemental Declaration is to provide the Court with updated and corrected calculations of Plaintiffs' requested damages.

5. As detailed in the July 14, 2022 Declaration, Plaintiffs (except Daniel Briehl and Gary Cross) requested compensatory damages in the amount of the prior compensatory damages they were awarded in other actions stemming from their injuries in the 1998 embassy bombings minus any recoveries they had obtained. Dkt. 74, ¶ 37.

6. Since Plaintiffs moved for default judgment on July 14, 2022, various Plaintiffs have obtained—or know they will soon obtain—additional recoveries on their prior compensatory damages awards. Additionally, Plaintiffs discovered that they had mistakenly failed to account for certain recoveries that some Plaintiffs had already obtained prior to their default judgment motion. Accordingly, because Plaintiffs here seek compensatory damages only for their injuries in the amount they have not already recovered, they are revising their requested compensatory damages as detailed in the appended table to account for all of the recoveries obtained (or anticipated) thus far.

7. As explained in the July 14, 2022 Declaration, because Plaintiffs requested punitive damages in the amount of twice their original compensatory damages awards (i.e., twice the total amount of their injuries, since punitive damages are designed to deter and punish), Dkt. 74, ¶ 38, these additional recoveries do not impact their punitive damages calculations.

8. Nonetheless, Plaintiffs have identified clerical errors in the figures provided to the Court for the prior compensatory damages awarded to Plaintiffs Cheryl L. Blood, Gary Lonquist, Timothy Teske, Sharon Teske, Jonathan Teske, and Taylor Teske. These errors (the majority of which involved the mistaken omission of prejudgment interest from those Plaintiffs' prior compensatory damages awards) impacted the damages calculations for these Plaintiffs—including the compensatory and punitive damages requested—and accordingly impacted the total amount of damages requested for all Plaintiffs. The corrected figures for these Plaintiffs are provided in the appended table, as well as the corrected overall damages figures for all Plaintiffs.

9. As indicated in the July 14, 2022 Declaration, Plaintiffs had sought the following damages: base compensatory damages of $1,373,761,042.95; total compensatory damages of $1,861,997,697.53 (i.e., base compensatory damages plus $488,236,654.58 of prejudgment interest); punitive damages of $3,295,249,969.26; and a total award (total compensatory damages plus punitive damages) of $5,157,247,666.79, plus postjudgment interest. See Dkt. 74, ¶ 65. Plaintiffs now request base compensatory damages in the amount of $1,365,542,626.56 and punitive damages in the amount of $3,291,109,761.26, per the revisions noted above. Additionally, the prior calculation of $488,236,654.58 in prejudgment interest—a component of Plaintiffs’ total compensatory damages—was based on an assumed judgment date of August 1, 2022. See id. ¶¶ 61, 63–64. Because more than seven months have elapsed since that date, this Supplemental Declaration also updates Plaintiffs’ damages calculations to reflect the prejudgment interest that has accrued between August 1, 2022 and a new assumed judgment date of March 10, 2023. Accordingly, this Supplemental Declaration supplants paragraphs 60, 61, 63, 64, and 65 of the July 14, 2022 Declaration, as follows.

10. In keeping with Judge Bates’ method of calculation, this Court should calculate prejudgment interest for Plaintiffs encompassed by the prior Owens, Mwila, and Khaliq judgments as follows: Since Judge Bates’ award of compensatory damages for the injuries sustained in the bombings included prejudgment interest calculated through 2014,¹ this Court should calculate prejudgment interest from 2015 to present. The first step is to multiply $1.00 by the average federal prime rate for 2015 (3.26%) and to add that amount to $1.00, which yields 1.03260.² The next step is to multiply 1.03260 by the average federal prime rate for 2016 (3.51%) and to add that amount to 1.03260, which yields 1.06884. This iterative process should be continued through 2023. Since the average prime rate for 2023 is not yet available, following Judge Bates, the Court should estimate the 2023 rate based on the average of the previous five years (4.368%).³ See Owens v. Republic of Sudan, No. 01-cv-2244, Dkt. 348, at 12 n.7 (D.D.C. Oct. 24, 2014). And in the interest of precision, the Court should adjust this estimated 2023 rate based on how much time has elapsed in 2023 when the Court enters judgment. See Lonnquist v. Islamic Republic of Iran, No. 17-cv-1630, Dkt. 45, at 26 n.3 (D.D.C. Aug. 31, 2020).

11. For purposes of calculating Plaintiffs' proposed damages, Plaintiffs have assumed a judgment date in this action of March 10, 2023. Based on the aforementioned iterative calculation, the multiplier from 2015 through 2022 is 1.37764. Thus, the final step is to multiply 1.37764 by 0.04368 (the estimated prime rate for 2023 based on the average prime rate for the last five years), and to multiply that amount by 0.18904, since 18.904% of the year 2023 will have elapsed on March 10, 2023, and then to add that product to 1.37764. This yields a final multiplier for the Owens, Mwila, and Khaliq Plaintiffs of 1.38902.⁴ To calculate total compensatory damages

² For the average prime rate for each year since the embassy bombings, see Dkt. 74, ¶ 59 n.3. When Plaintiffs previously calculated damages in the July 14, 2022 Declaration, the average prime rate for 2022 was not yet available, so Plaintiffs estimated that rate using the average of the previous five years. See id., ¶ 60 & n.7. Since the actual average prime rate for 2022 is now available (4.86%), Plaintiffs use that rate for 2022 in all of the updated calculations herein instead of the estimated 2022 rate that Plaintiffs had previously calculated (4.216%).

⁴ The full calculation is as follows: $1 + (1 * 0.0326) + (1.03260 * 0.0351) + (1.06884 * 0.041) + (1.11267 * 0.0491) + (1.16730 * 0.0528) + (1.22893 * 0.0354) + (1.27244 * 0.0325) +$

for each Owens, Mwila, and Khaliq Plaintiff—with prejudgment interest included—the Court should multiply the compensatory damages that each Plaintiff seeks (which again is equal to the amount of prior compensatory damages they were awarded for their injuries in the bombings minus any recoveries) by 1.38902, as reflected in the table appended to this Supplemental Declaration and included in Plaintiffs’ Updated Proposed Default Judgment.

12. In keeping with Judge Bates’ method of calculation, this Court should calculate prejudgment interest for Plaintiffs encompassed by the Lonnquist judgment as follows: Since Judge Bates calculated prejudgment interest through August 31, 2020, this Court should begin with September 1, 2020 through December 31, 2020. The first step is to multiply $1.00 by the average federal prime rate for 2020 (3.54%), then to multiply that amount by 0.33333 (since Judge Bates had calculated that 66.67% of the year had elapsed as of August 31, 2020), and then to add that amount to $1.00, which yields 1.01180. The next step is to multiply 1.01180 by the average prime rate for 2021 (3.25%) and to add that amount to 1.01180, which yields 1.04468. The next step is to multiply 1.04468 by the average prime rate for 2022 (4.86%) and to add that amount to 1.04468, which yields 1.09545. The next and final step is to continue that iterative process for 2023. Since the average prime rate for 2023 is not yet available, the Court should estimate the 2023 rate based on the average of the previous five years (4.368%). See supra, ¶ 10 & n.3; Owens, No. 01-cv-2244, Dkt. 348, at 12 n.7. And in the interest of precision, the Court should adjust this estimated 2023 rate based on how much time has elapsed in 2023 at the time the Court enters judgment. See Lonnquist, No. 17-cv-1630, Dkt. 45, at 26 n.3. For purposes of calculating

$(1.31379 * 0.0486) + (1.37764 * 0.04368 * 0.18904) = \mathbf{1.38902}$. If the Court enters judgment on a date before or after March 10, 2023, and wishes to adjust interest for 2023 based on the date of judgment, then this calculation would be the same, except that 0.18904 in the last calculation would be substituted with the applicable percentage based on how much time has elapsed in 2023 as of the date of judgment.

Plaintiffs' proposed damages, Plaintiffs have assumed a judgment date of March 10, 2023. Thus, the final step is to multiply 1.09545 by 0.04368 (the estimated prime rate for 2023), and to multiply that amount by 0.18904, since 18.904% of the year 2023 will have elapsed on March 10, 2023, and then to add that product to 1.09545. This yields a final multiplier for the Lonnquist Plaintiffs of 1.10450.⁵ To calculate total compensatory damages for each Lonnquist Plaintiff—with prejudgment interest included—the Court should multiply the base compensatory damages that each Lonnquist Plaintiff seeks by 1.10450, as reflected in the table appended to this Supplemental Declaration and included in Plaintiffs' Updated Proposed Default Judgment.

13. Since Daniel Briehl and Gary Cross have not previously obtained judgments, the Court should calculate prejudgment interest for these two Plaintiffs as follows: The first step is to multiply $1.00 by the average federal prime rate in 1998 (8.35%), then to multiply that amount by the percentage of the year remaining from August 7, 1998 (the date of the embassy bombings) to December 31, 1998 (40.0%, as Judge Bates calculated in Lonnquist, No. 17-cv-1630, Dkt. 45, at 26 n.3), and then to add that amount to $1.00, yielding 1.03340. The next step is to multiply 1.03340 by the average prime rate for 1999 (8.00%) and to add that amount to 1.03340, yielding 1.11607. This iterative process should be continued through 2023. Since the average prime rate for 2023 is not yet available, the Court should estimate the 2023 rate based on the average of the previous five years (4.368%). See supra, ¶ 10 & n.3; Owens, No. 01-cv-2244, Dkt. 348, at 12 n.7. And in the interest of precision, the Court should adjust this estimated 2023 rate based on how much time has elapsed in 2023 at the time the Court enters judgment. See Lonquist, No. 17-cv-1630, Dkt. 45, at 26 n.3. For purposes of calculating Plaintiffs' proposed damages, Plaintiffs have assumed a judgment date in this action of March 10, 2023. Thus, the final step is to multiply the multiplier through 2022 (3.22010) by 0.04368, then to multiply that amount by 0.18904, since 18.904% of the year 2023 will have elapsed on March 10, 2023, and then to add that product to 3.22010. This yields a final multiplier for Briehl and Cross of 3.24668.⁶ To calculate total compensatory damages for Briehl and Cross—with prejudgment interest included—the Court should multiply the base compensatory damages that Briehl and Cross each seek by 3.24668, as reflected in the table appended to this Supplemental Declaration and included in Plaintiffs' Updated Proposed Default Judgment.

14. In sum, as reflected in the table appended to this Supplemental Declaration and included in Plaintiffs' Updated Proposed Default Judgment, Plaintiffs request base compensatory damages of $1,365,542,626.56; total compensatory damages of $1,899,416,611.92 (i.e., base compensatory damages plus $533,873,985.36 of prejudgment interest); punitive damages of $3,291,109,761.26; and a total award (total compensatory damages plus punitive damages) of $5,190,526,373.18, plus postjudgment interest. Plaintiffs respectfully request that the Court enter
